FROM: Inv. James Lukas, #117

SUBJECT: INFORMATION FROM VICTIM, [REDACTED]

On 11 February 2014, the R/I was instructed by Coordinator Stoutenborough to telephone the victim, [REDACTED]. The R/I did so at approximately 1905 hours. [REDACTED] described the incident about which he complained. When asked if he would agree to be interviewed in person, he said he would refer the issue to his attorney, [REDACTED] did not have [REDACTED] phone number or the exact spelling of his first name available].

[REDACTED] related in essence, but not verbatim, that at the time of the incident, he was driving his BMW to his residence at [REDACTED]. The Chicago Marathon had been run earlier the same day. There were some young persons gathered in the vicinity of [REDACTED] building. He pulled over in his car and looked at the young persons because there had been an incident near his building involving some young persons approximately three weeks earlier. The accused officer, Eugene Goldsmith, said something over his squad car's PA system, but [REDACTED] did not clearly hear what he said. Officer Goldsmith then told [REDACTED] to "move your motherfucking car." [REDACTED] told Officer Goldsmith that he had not clearly heard what he said. Officer Goldsmith told [REDACTED], "Move your motherfucking car or go to jail." [REDACTED] parked his car legally near his building and exited the car.

[REDACTED] related that Officer Goldsmith approached him and tried to handcuff him. Mr. Buford told Officer Goldsmith that he wanted to talk to a supervisor and said he would "have" Officer Goldsmith's job. [REDACTED] did not "threaten" Officer Goldsmith. [REDACTED] said he was handcuffed "super tight," with his fingers eventually turning "black" and/or "blue" and numb. [The handcuffs were later removed at the 1st District station.] Officer Goldsmith told [REDACTED] that he would have [REDACTED] car towed. [REDACTED] objected to that, telling Officer Goldsmith that his car was legally parked near his residence. Officer Goldsmith obtained the car keys/alarm fob from [REDACTED] pockets and had trouble trying to open and start the car until [REDACTED] gave him instructions. During the incident, Officer Goldsmith told [REDACTED] "You don't question me. I'm the motherfucking officer of the motherfucking law."

[REDACTED] continued that at the scene, Officer Goldsmith radioed something like, "I've got one," or "We've got one." Other officers arrived, and at least one put on gloves as if he expected trouble from [REDACTED] talked to a female supervisor on the scene and explained about his not hearing Officer Goldsmith's

PA message to move his car. Officer Goldsmith drove [REDACTED] car to the 1st District station.

[REDACTED] said he was pushed into the "wagon" for transport to the 1st District station. At the district station, [REDACTED] talked to a "desk sergeant" who referenced [REDACTED] "threatening" one of his officers. [REDACTED] explained to the sergeant what the alleged "threat" was ["I'll have your job."] [REDACTED] said he was not immediately allowed to make a phone call, but eventually was allowed to make the call. He did not seek medical attention for the tight handcuffs.

[REDACTED] said the "court case" against him was "thrown out" twice by the judge. He said Officer Goldsmith did not come to court on time at least once. [REDACTED] said he was disappointed that he was not able to explain to the judge what occurred during the incident. [REDACTED] added that he is pursuing civil action through his lawyer to recoup the money he had to spend for lawyer's fees, taking off work and storage of his car.
